Decision: Approved Approved with Conditions Tabled

1. All required variances shall be obtained.
2. Siding & roofing samples shall be submitted to the Building & Planning Department
3. On the right side porch, provide an architectural feature or detail to create a more credible appearance of support of the upper story. For example, on the front elevation of the right side porch a low screen panel or stone wall could be added; or on that same elevation the outside pier could be doubled and a second column added to match the existing, and this assembly could be replicated on the house side of the front of the porch.
